

ATHENA THERAPEUTIC EURYTHMY DENTAL CONFERENCE
PART II
With Marieke Kaiser, TE, and Dr. Claus Haupt, Dentist
July 23 – July 30, 2023
San Juan Hall, Sacramento Waldorf School, Fair Oaks, CA

ATHENA sends you a warm invitation to this highly anticipated dental conference in Fair Oaks, California! After the restrictions of the last few years, we are very excited to finally be going ahead! Come join us for an inspiring time and a cold and refreshing dip in the American River!

There have been three previous well-attended dental conferences in the US. We have been waiting four years to bring Part II of the last conference held in Portland in 2019! To attend, however, it is not necessary to have completed the 1st dental eurythmy course. All therapeutic Eurythmists as well as dentists and physicians are welcome!

TEETH are fundamental indicators of health and disease. They give insight into what forces a person has brought with him or her into this life from the past. From their many years of experience, Mareike and Dr. Haupt will be bringing their understanding of the spiritual significance of the teeth and their development. Mareike will be presenting practical TE exercises for many dental anomalies, including overbite, underbite, open bite, crowding, gap tooth, etc. When practiced assiduously these exercises do make a real difference in the positioning of the teeth and jaw and may help a child to avert braces.

Participants in previous conferences have written highly laudatory comments such as:

"Truly inspiring with such a deep wisdom of anthroposophical medical science revealed!" We are given "to understand how the teeth show the relationship of the individual's soul and spirit to the world".

Many more reviews and accolades can be read in the attachment below.

Mareike Kaiser was born 1950 in Soltau, Germany. She completed three years of the Christian Community Priest seminar in Stuttgart, Germany, before pursuing her training as a eurythmist and eurythmy therapist in Vienna, which she completed in 1978. After raising three of her own children, she began to teach eurythmy in the Waldorf School in Graz in 1988. As a eurythmy therapist she came across an increasing demand to work with children with teeth problems. In 1993 she began to work with Claus Haupt, and they have since developed an approach to assessing children and their teeth which includes working with the birth horoscope. Mareike has also completed training in counseling. Besides continuing to teach eurythmy to children and work therapeutically, she teaches in a community college and offers courses for Eurythmy Therapists in various countries to extend their knowledge of exercises for the teeth. In 2007 she co-founded the Ita-Wegman Centre in Graz.

Claus Haupt was born 1946 in Bad Döben, Germany. He completed his training as a dentist in 1971. In 1983 he began deepening his study of Anthroposophy together with a group of other dentists and this led him to an understanding of the spiritual significance of the teeth and their development. After establishing a private practice in Munich in 1985 he began to work together with eurythmy therapists, art therapists and speech therapists and worked in a number of Waldorf Schools. He regularly visits the Waldorf School in Graz, Austria to assess the children's teeth and work together with Mareike Kaiser.
